Day04 LABADEE, HAITI

In the morning, your cruiseship calls at Labadee, Royal Caribbean's private paradise, sited on the north coast of Hispaniola, surrounded by beautiful mountain slopes and exotic foliage. The location is named after Marquis de La'Badie, a Frenchman who first settled the area in the 17th century. The spelling was changed to "Labadee" to make it easier for English-speakers to pronounce. This exclusive destination offers pristine beaches, breathtaking scenery and spectacular water activities. Enjoy a bird's-eye view as you soar 400 feet above the beautiful peninsula on a thrilling parasailing ride or go shopping for beautiful handmade local artwork, woodwork and crafts. Labadee's native charm, along with its natural beauty, make this a destination not to be missed.

Haiti or rather Republic of Haiti is one of the most beautiful mountainous countries of the Caribbean. Population of 8.7 millions. Port-au-Prince, the capital known for its cultural and natural attractions. It encompasses by all kinds of topographical region like plains, hills and the surrounding water. Unfortunately, on January 12, 2010, a massive earthquake caused enormous damage to the capital city. Cap-Haitien, Haiti's second city feels a world away from the throng and hustle of Port-au-Prince. During the French colonial era it was the richest city in the Caribbean, and even if that grandeur has long since faded, the city still maintains a relaxed and parochial atmosphere.

Day05 FALMOUTH, JAMAICA

Morning your cruiseship calls at Falmouth, the chief town and capital of the parish of Trelawney in Jamaica. It is situated on Jamaica's north coast 18 miles east of Montego Bay. It is noted for being one of the Caribbean's best-preserved Georgian towns.

Jamaica, the 3rd largest Caribbean island, was inhabited by Arawak natives. When Christopher Columbus arrived at the island, he claimed the land for Spain. Still, it was not truly colonized until after his death. But only a few decades after Columbus's death almost all Arawaks were disappearing. Eventually England claimed the island in a raid, but the Spanish did not relinquish their claim to the island until 1670. Jamaica became a base of operations for buccaneers, including Captain Henry Morgan. In return these buccaneers kept the other colonial powers from attacking the island. Africans were captured, kidnapped, and forced into slavery to work on plantations when sugarcane became the most important export on the island. After the British crown abolished slavery, the Jamaicans began working toward independence. Since independence there have been political and economic disturbances, as well as a number of strong political leaders.

Step off the ship and step back in time. It may not appear so at first glance, but quaint Falmouth was an economic powerhouse and center for dramatic social change during the English Colonial Period. Founded as Martha Brae Point in 1769 by local English planter Thomas Reid, Falmouth became the shipment hub for sugar plantations covering the hills of Jamaica's North Coast. From the wharfs of Falmouth, sugar, molasses, rum and coffee were sent to England, while ships making their way from across the Atlantic dropped anchor in the bustling port town to deliver other necessities of 18th century life. The town was meticulously planned from the start, with wide streets in a regular grid, adequate water supply, and public buildings. It even had piped water before New York City. In today's Falmouth, visitors still enjoy 19th-century Georgian architecture as well as river bamboo raft rides. Shop for local craftworks in Water Square then enjoy a lunch of shrimp, lobster, chicken or pork, all cooked in one of 300 varieties of the famous Jamaica Jerk seasoning. Evening set to cruise to Mexico.

Day06 CRUISING

Allure of the Seas features unique and varied entertainment roster, from Broadway show Chicago: The Musical, to high-diving spectacles in the AquaTheater, side-splitting comedy shows, and spectacular stunts on the ice, all steps away from your stateroom. The Rising Tide Bar moves slowly up and down between three decks, and features an open air bar encircled in a crystal verandah, taking cocktails to a whole new level.

Day07 COZUMEL, MEXICO

Morning your ship call at Cozumel of Mexico. Located directly south of Cancun city and near to the Yucatán Peninsula with an estimated population of around 90,000. In Mayan, Cuzamil (Cozumel) translates to "land of the swallows," a reflection of the indigenous birds that inhabit the island. Its beautiful sandy beaches and also its unsurpassed scuba diving, being surrounded by the crystal-clear blue waters of the Caribbean Sea, which is always warm and inviting. It attracts scuba divers from all over the world for more than 50 years. The Yucatan Peninsula is host to numerous interesting things to see and do and it all boils down to the factor. There are tons and tons of things to do in the Yucatan Peninsula. What you do will depend on where you stay and what you are interested in. For example, if you are interested in Mayan culture you may want to start in Tulum and work your way south then inland attractions. Book your optional tour to explore the Mayan cultural and historic attractions before returning to your cruise ship to sail back to Florida.

Day08 CRUISING

Guests on Oasis of the Seas and Allure of the Seas can now enjoy the DreamWorks Experience, adding another level of unbelievable adventure to our already incredible collection of onboard experiences for the whole family. The DreamWorks Experience lets you create unforgettable moments with your favorite characters from Shrek, Madagascar, Kung Fu Panda and How to Train Your Dragon. Guests can pose for pictures with characters, interact with them during meals, laugh at their antics during parades and watch their movies in our new 3D theaters – all at no extra charge. Enjoy the How to Train Your Dragon Ice Show and Madagascar Aqua Show, exclusively on the Allure of the Seas.

Day09 FORT LAUDERDALE / MIAMI

Morning, your cruiseship returns to Fort Lauderdale. After the disembarkation facilities, make your own way to your hotel in Miami. The rest of the day is free at leisure. Miami is often referred to as the epicenter of 'cool' and is located on the south-easterly tip of Florida. It is a young city, founded in 1896 - but has taken full advantage of its prominent location to become one of the United States' foremost cities. Its meteoric growth from nothing to a city of 5.5 million in 110 years earned it the nickname of "The Magic City". Tied to the culture and language of Central, South and North America, Miami has become one of the most important financial and commercial centers in the United States.

Day10 MIAMI (B)

Famous for many things, Miami is best known for its extremely sunny weather, golden beaches, Art Deco character and lively nightlife. Also known as the 'Gateway to the Americas', the 15 miles / 24 km of glorious beaches make Miami a little different to other large cities and it is understandably popular with all ages, attracting a broad spectrum of tourists. After breakfast at hotel, explore the city at your own pace or take optional tour to discover the Miami's attractions. Spend your days tanning on the water's edge, strolling Ocean Drive in Miami Beach, or exploring the wildlife of the Everglades. Spend your nights sipping mojitos and rubbing elbows with the elite in the South Beach, Miami nightclub district.

Day11 MIAMI / KUALA LUMPUR (B)

After breakfast at hotel, free at leisure. Make your own way to the airport in the early afternoon to board your homeward flight.
